PERSPECTIVE ON THE FUTURE OF SKIN AND LASER SCIENCE

The main stage set the scene for visionary thinking, as two internationally recognised pioneers offered compelling perspectives on the future of aesthetic and surgical practice.

Dr. Jean-Claude Guimberteau of France took audiences on a fascinating “Journey Through the Skin,” revealing the remarkable architecture of living tissue and sharing insights from his pioneering work in microsurgery and connective tissue research. His keynote invited attendees to look beyond the surface and rethink how we understand tissue, ageing, and the human body.

From the evolving science of tissue to the rapid advancement of laser technology, Dr. Nikolai Tankovich of the USA explored the next chapter in fractional medicine through “Evolution of Medical Fractional Technology and Where It Is Going.” Drawing on decades of innovation and his extensive portfolio of more than 110 patents, Dr. Tankovich offered a forward-looking perspective on the technologies shaping the future of aesthetic medicine.

Together, their presentations brought science, innovation, and vision to the forefront—leaving attendees inspired by what lies ahead for skin, laser, and aesthetic medicine.

A POWERFUL SYNERGY: CO-LOCATION WITH MOC 2026

The co-location with the 3rd Malaysian Oculoplastic Conference (MOC 2026) added a valuable dimension to this year's event, bringing together experts in oculoplastic, reconstructive, and aesthetic surgery.

Organised by the Malaysian Society of Ophthalmic Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery (MSOPRS) under the theme "Advancing Oculoplastic and Aesthetic Surgery Through Innovation, Artistry & Precision," the collaboration created a strong platform for knowledge exchange and interdisciplinary learning.

The MOC 2026 programme also featured distinguished international keynote speakers, including Prof. Robert Goldberg (USA), Prof. Mohammad Javed Ali (India), Dr Yoon Duck Kim (South Korea) and Prof. Richard Allen (USA), further enriching the scientific programme and fostering meaningful connections among regional and international specialists.

POST-MOC 2026 AESTHETIC MASTERCLASS WORKSHOP: PERIORBITAL FOCUS WITH ULTRASOUND INTEGRATION

The Post-MOC 2026 Aesthetic Masterclass brought together leading international experts for an intensive exploration of periorbital aesthetics and ultrasound integration.

Under the theme “Safe. Subtle. Scientific,” participants explored key topics including periorbital anatomy, toxin and filler techniques, rheology, biostimulation, energy-based devices, and the prevention and management of vascular and visual complications.

The programme concluded with hands-on injection simulation workshops using mannequins, covering tear trough and superior sulcus filler techniques and botulinum toxin injections, followed by ultrasound-guided practical training in identifying periorbital structures and performing guided injections.

The masterclass provided a focused combination of anatomical knowledge, clinical science, safety, and practical skills, reinforcing precision and confidence in periorbital aesthetic practice.

15 August 2026 | Saturday

Kuala Lumpur Hospital

Jalan Pahang, 50586 Kuala Lumpur

The post-conference FACES (Facial Anatomy Cadaveric Exploration & Surgery) Masterclass offered participants an unparalleled opportunity for immersive, hands-on learning using cadaveric specimens.

Led by an elite panel of global expert trainers, including Dr. Lim Ting Song (Malaysia), Dr. Konstantin Frank (Spain), Dr. Luciano Lanfranchi (Italy), Dr. Steven Liew (Australia), and Dr. Benrita Jitaree (Thailand), the masterclass provided an in-depth exploration of facial anatomy, with detailed mapping of the facial layers from the temple to the chin.

Participants gained a comprehensive understanding of key anatomical structures through a combination of expert-led anatomical exploration and hands-on practical sessions, helping to enhance anatomical knowledge, surgical precision, and clinical outcomes.

A MEANINGFUL COLLABORATION BETWEEN MSAM AND IMU UNIVERSITY

A significant milestone was achieved as MSAM (Malaysian Society of Aesthetic Medicine) and IMU University formalised their collaboration through an MOU exchange, strengthening their shared commitment to advancing aesthetic medicine.

The collaboration brings together Dr. Lim Ting Song, President of MSAM, and Professor Winnie Chee, Deputy Vice Chancellor, Research & Innovation, IMU University, alongside their respective teams.

The MOU aims to foster greater opportunities in education, professional development, research, knowledge exchange, and training, while supporting the development of future healthcare professionals.

This partnership reflects a shared commitment to promoting safe, ethical, and evidence-based aesthetic medicine in Malaysia and beyond, while building a meaningful and lasting relationship between academia and the professional medical community.
